Begin - to start to do something:

the end:

something that signals a change from what we were to the hope of what we can be. The mysteries and the miseries still unsolved. Glad take the first step; commence . . .

farewells and teary goodbyes. The past is left behind but never forgotten. Yesterday plays heavily on how we treat tomorrow.

the continuation:

“what we were and always will be, something within that can never be changed. Something to hold onto, to keep and carry with us. Stability that reminds and comforts when we feel the need.

... to come into being; to arise. . .

an endless stream of faces:

minds that see what is and what can be.
Souls at rest and restless, hopes to be fulfilled or replaced. Names to be remembered, mourned, or celebrated and held in sacred trust. All shaping our unknown destiny.

the beginning:

a new tomorrow. Something we have prepared for all our lives and can't possibly be ready for. So many beginnings we have already faced and conquered, yet none so frightening and new as the one before us now. All seemed so simple in retrospect but perhaps we still remember our first step, that memory eases the fear of the leap we are about to take.

look for tomorrow and...

DAVID FISHER: EDITOR

Working his way up from Teacher's Aide to the highest position on the staff was not an easy job for David. He had to gain the trust and respect of all the staff, not to mention the key to the room. Now that he's got the key, he's working on getting our attention. He will never forget his first day as Editor "I walked in and introduced myself, asked for suggestions; it was really fun until they locked me in the closet..." David has even bigger plans for the future. He will attend USC in the fall, and plans to work his way through school playing Tweedle Dum in the Disneyland Parade.

MR. MICHAEL SULLIVAN: ADVISOR

After five years as a Cuban mercenary, Mr. Sullivan came to PHS. It was his military tactics and ability to lead a small band of incompetents that got him this job. He can frequently be heard crying "What do you mean proofread, we've got a deadline to meet!" All of us know his motto, "I don't want it accurate, I want it now!" An English teacher in civilian life, he is a naturally humble man, "I am the bestest teacher in the whole-wide school". And scoffs at his uncanny resemblance to James Caan, saying simply "I'm cuter." When asked about the quality of this year's book he answered, "Who cares, I cashed in all the checks and bought a Winnebago."

ALYSON BURNS: ART & LIT

Alyson does not exist; she is a figment of her own imagination.

LISA SZESZULSKI: SENIORS

This is the second year for Lisa on a class section. She feels this year has given her the opportunity to repeat the mistakes she made last year but, as she puts it, "I did it with more style." Known throughout the school as a humanitarian, she plans to continue her work with underprivileged midgets after graduation. Her favorite quote is "S-Z-E-S-Z-U-L-S-K-I."

GINGER NITEN: FACULTY

This was Ginger's second year as a REEFER, and she performed just as capably as before. After organizing a Save the Whales coalition, and stripping us of our lunch money to buy food for underprivileged teachers, Ginger went on to win the "Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Wombats" humanitarian award. When asked about her future plans, she said, "I'd like to have a Telethon in my garage."

PATRICIA CARTER: FACULTY

After long years of searching for someone to represent the REEF in the Miss Teenage Layout Form contest, we think we've found our girl. She has added flair and charm to this year's book; something it has lacked for a long time. She is a normally quiet girl, but not afraid to speak out on an important issue. "Who do YOU think is going to be Co-Ed King?" All the staff wished her farewell, and best of luck in the bathing suit competition.

WENDY VELARDO: SENIOR SECTION

Wendy's ever present smile and kind word for all, have endeared her in the hearts of the staff members and earned her the nickname, "Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever." She's a second year member and enjoys her work; screaming frequently to anyone who will listen, "I can't take it any more!" She says she's survived her three years at Pacifica through deep concentration, good friends and an unlimited supply of Twinkies." After graduation, she plans to move upstate and try to cure her addiction to AM radio.

Every teacher knows what's happened. Test scores of reading and writing ability have fallen like the stock market in '29. The attitude toward school and its purpose altered. Teachers were to be rated as though contending for an Emmy. "Boring teachers" were those who used textbooks, and "boring" classes could be switched as easily as channels. Attention span in the classroom shrank to about the same amount of time as that between commercial breaks: six minutes. Homework was done grudgingly, if at all, with one eye on M*A*S*H or Charlie's Angels.

The major stations often broadcast mini exposes to capture viewer attention. They serialize nightly the evils of rape and alcohol and wife beating. They dramatize the horrors of porno shops and prostitution and narcotics. From time to time they even tell us how bad our schools are and why Johnny can't read, or write or anything else. Then they make money during the rest of the evening with programs which dwell upon these subjects.

DANETTE NORTH CUTT: SOPHOMORES

This was Danette's first year as a member of the Reef and she couldn't have been more thrilled. Giving a typically sophomoric response to the class she said, "Golly!" Her work on the sophomore section was unparalleled and we are sure she'll turn in the rest of her pages by the end of the summer (see all those blank pages at the end of the book, they are now autograph pages but they used to be part of the sophomore section). All those sophomores who were not pictured, Danette's phone number is 92-3470, she has your pictures ...

TERRY ROBERTS: MISCELLANEOUS

Terry's section title reflects her outlook on life and general career plans. Although she missed much of the first semester due to illness, she bounced right back and ditched the second half. Terry has spent much of her high school years living down her past; but here at the REEF, we are big-hearted, so her leper colony upbringing did not stop our never-ending search for talent.

CATHY GOODMAN: GIRLS' SPORTS

Cathy's only year on the staff was characterized by the question "How can we do the Girls' Sports section without pictures?" to which the photographers replied, "What's a Girls' Sports?" Anyway, Cathy is the greatest thing to happen to PHS since the cafeteria started to use meat in its hamburgers. In fact, she got her political start when she protested the unsatisfactory taste of the infamous lunch "combo." When told by the administration that meat was too hard to obtain, she suggested they grind up the El Corriente staff instead and serve them on a hamburger bun with a side order of french fries.

CYNDIE REYNOLDS: SOPHOMORES

Even though we all agreed that she spells her name wrong, the staff eventually did to get to like Cyndie and her naive, cutesy outlook on life. She was also a worker on the sophomore section among other things. Although we sometimes thought of her as a dumb blonde, none of us really believed it for a minute. When asked what she planned to do next year, she replied, "I'd like to be a junior."

TRADITIONAL DISCLAIMER

Any resemblance to persons living or dead is purely coincidental. All of the above facts, including numbers, dates and names are true, though not necessarily in context. All quotes were made subconsciously but are nevertheless, true.

KATHERINE WILKES: JUNIORS

Katherine was a co-conspirator with Becky Bowring in this year's remake of last year's junior section. Although we know very little about her, we do have records that show she was enrolled in the class. When we finally located her we asked her to comment on her perfect record of nonattendance. Her reply was, "I was only trying to pick up the slack left by Becky's illness."

TIMOTHY FISHER: SPORTS

Brother of the editor, Tim has spent much of his past years on the staff overcoming the handicap. His favorite saying is, "When the going gets tough, the tough gets going." Tim has met a phenomenal 2 out of 7 deadlines, and has a .123 batting average. Out of class, he is well known for his impression of a lonely hamster, when he was overheard pleading "take me home please!" A junior, he plans to devote his entire senior year campaigning for Co-Ed King.

CINDY MILLONZI: ARTIST

Well known for her artistic flare and ability to throw wadded paper in a wastebasket at feet, Cindy was chosen to do many of the illustrations that appear in this year's annual. She sees the opportunity as "A free ride in getting my artwork printed." Her favorite medium is watercolors, although her love for writing on the girls' bathroom walls has had her suspended three times this year.

too put up an antenna and gathered round the little bright tube. They watched wrestling matches taking place that very second miles away. Magic!

First it seemed to unite families and friends Programming was simple, even wholesome. At worst, corny. Family life drew closer to the tube. Frozen dinners, grabbed from the oven, could be tossed on trays, eaten without missing a morsel of the program. Look at that! And plain lives seemed enriched with the exclamation of advertisers' Fantastic! Exciting! products. Commercials paraded miracles of detergents that made things clean and life better. Wow!

But unlike radio, the glaring tube stayed on day and night. Addictive. It took its toll. Newspaper circulation dropped and hundreds of papers folded without seeing the pun. The printed word was dying.

Language became grunted. Yeah, and like conversations were chopped down, you know, to fit in like during commercials when it was o.k. like to talk. And in the classroom they'd admit they had these tremendous big ideas and huge emotions but they "couldn't put 'em into words." Discussions became ran ses

DAVE MORGAN: PHOTOGRAPHER

David is a veteran of the REEF staff, logging over 12,000 photos taken and 17 developed. He has been the inspiration behind many of the more artistic layouts in this book, and therefore must take most of the blame. He is a hard worker on this staff, and can be seen everyday at 1:00 flying out the door leaving us with these words of inspiration: "Gotta go home and work on my Van."

URBAN KNERT: MASCOT

When last seen, Urban was alive and well and living in the Editor's Box (Thanks Alan).

STEVE MARTIN: PATRON SAINT

MARK TURNER: SPORTS
Mark's screams of "We've got to do this layout because we have a deadline tomorrow" went unheeded all year long, partly because Mark did most of his yelling out in the quad. His credits include one cropped picture, one class appearance (pick up his yearbook), and a very successful athletic career. He hopes to become a professional running coach upon graduation while taking classes in masochism. As it applies to Running in col-

KERN BATES: PHOTOGRAPHER
Kern's second year as a staff photographer has seasoned him to the madcap workings within this little organization. A man of few words, Kern is frequently overheard commenting on the layouts with such expressions as "Uh-huh," "Yea" and "Oh". His remarks are carefully considered by all for their uncanny ability to spot true talent. Recently, while watching one of the artists at work he commented, "I'd give my right arm to be a quadruplegic."

CARROLL MOSELEY: ORGANIZATIONS

Carroll's first year on the staff taught us one important lesson: don't let him come back next year. Besides dismembering his section, Carroll managed to also mess up our minds with his constant talk about how great he is. Late this year, though, Carroll stunned all of us when he announced, "I'm tired of talking about myself, let's let someone else speak." "What do you like about me?" Another of Carroll's favorite sayings is "If I were a girl, I'd be in love with Carroll Moseley." After graduation next year, Carroll hopes to marry himself and happily settle down to an expensive home with 19 or 20 mirrors.

SCOTT KLAR: PUBLIC RELATIONS

Scott, or "J. Scott Klar, esq.", as he likes to be called, is a veteran on the REEF staff. His expertise in dealing with the public has kept the staff out of more than one scrape. It is his dedication to keeping our names out of the newspaper that has made him an invaluable asset to the staff; and we have all promised to pay him back for bailing John out of jail. After graduation, he plans to major in Industrial Espionage and Cover-Up Tactics at Washington Tech.

JOHN TURNER: SPORTS

John "Joe Cool" Turner's first year on the staff has been one of promotions. He started out the year as editor of the Autograph Page section but when he finished it in only one week, he was promoted to the job of Sports Layout Artist. John still hopes to get out of Fairview by next year so he can become Sports Section editor but his psychologist doubts he will be back because "it is hard to cure these kind of people." So for the time being John will continue receiving treatment and running for the hospital's track team.

KELLY MASON: ACTIVITIES

As one of the more active students on this campus, Kelly was an appreciated asset in the making of this year-book; her involvement in ASB gave her access to many of the goings on in this school, many of which were heretofore undiscovered. After graduating this year, she plans to publish a behind the scenes novel about her experiences as Public Relations Rep. entitled I Saw What You Did And I'm Gonna Tell.

GARY CLARK: CLUBS

Gary is one of the smartest students in the school, but he never made us on the staff feel uncomfortable by showing any intelligence. When not working on the Clubs section, he spends his time developing new forms of nerve gas. We've long suspected Gary's rather strange personality, but it wasn't until he began building an A-bomb on the roof of the C lyceum, that we really believed it. A senior, he plans to attend the University of Cleveland where he will study Advanced Techniques in Nuclear Warfare.

PAUL MORINES: PHOTOGRAPHER

Paul, also a photographer, is a new member of the staff. When asked why he did not join last year, he replied to us, "My camera was busted." Despite a horrible accident in the darkroom that left his right cheek almost totally under-exposed, Paul still leads a fairly normal life in the outskirts of town, with his faithful pet boa Marshall.

LEANNE SCHNEIDMILLER: SPIRIT

We just couldn't get over Leanne's bubbly personality, in fact, by the end of the year, it was really starting to bother us. A member of the Drill Team, she seemed the most logical choice to head the section, and besides, all the other members refused. When not working on her layouts, she can be seen curled up in a corner reading Marxism: How It Can Help You In the Kitchen. Leanne is a Senior, and after graduation she plans to join the San Diego Chapter of the Hell's Angels.

MELINDA MIKKELSEN: SPIRIT

Melinda's first year on the Reef staff has, in her own words, "Been one of the major disappointments in my life." However she does plan to graduate despite the trauma. A member of the Drill Team for the past three years, she weathered last year's locker room scandal quite well, and she is working off her sentence on the weekends. After graduation, she plans to settle down in her Stanton home hoping to salvage her marriage to Puerto Rican artist, Jorge Esperanza.

BECKY BOWRING: JUNIORS

Becky showed up for class nearly every day this year due to an illness. We figured something was wrong with her when she had the gall to come to class for two straight days but we really began to worry when she stopped by for three straight weeks. Despite this crippling sickness, Becky managed to repeat her performance on last year's sophomore section on this year's junior section. Becky's plans for the future are to recover and to make next year's senior section great.

DANA PRIVITT: GIRLS' SPORTS

Dana is one of the more outspoken members of the staff, and she has a fairly decent wardrobe also. She feels her work on the REEF has enriched her life. She has been very active in the student government, and after graduation she plans to become an anarchist. Her hobbies include skiing; her favorite song is "If I Ruled the World."

Years ago students did their homework. They also listened to radio programs. They could do both at the same time. Radio was like that. You could do something and listen, too. In those days, as it was centuries ago when people sat around campfires telling tales, only voices brought the story. Imagination supplied the pictures.

But then something came into our homes that changed our lives. Something that couldn't, wouldn't be ignored. A few neighbors held out, but soon they

There's a crime drama going on, and it doesn't take a Kojak, Baretta or Columbo to figure it out. The narcotic effect of television has dulled imagination, crippled academic performance and undermined the values of the home, school and church. It teaches the young that all problems can be solved in 30 or 60 or 90 minutes and, if they can't be solved, they simply become mysteries or comedies to be continued next week.

This is an editorial from El Corriente. We would like to hear from a qualified spokesman from the television industry defending their position. That would really be a First for TV!

Pacifica's Spanish language newspaper, Hijos Del Sol, completed its third successful year of publication this year. The paper, besides being in Spanish, goes one other step forward by covering a wide variety of topics, ranging from Hispanic news and sports to school activities and functions to the ever popular gossip column.

The paper is kept afloat most of the time by Advisor Alice Rumbaugh who receives a little organization help from the editor, Dave Fisher. The work of putting together a paper of this type is time consuming and difficult but the 40 some-odd member staff has done an excellent job and will continue to do so in the future.

Mr. Tom Ringland

This year's choral groups have improved tremendously. The Concert Choir, A Cappella Choir, and Vocal Ensemble have had a busy schedule performing a wide variety of music for schools, hospitals, civic organizations, and choral festivals. During the Christmas season, the groups performed at two of Orange County's top amusement parks: Disneyland and Knott's Berry Farm.

Participating in a choral group offers students the rewards of new musical experiences, travel, performance, club participation, and much more. A lot of hard work is expected from all choir members in order to achieve the musical excellence that this year's choir has accomplished.

Mr. Tom Ringland, the choral music director, came to Pacifica last year and has worked very hard to make the choral program here the best it can possibly be. Mr. Ringland, a graduate of U.S.C., has had many experiences in choral music, both as a professional singer and as a director. He has brought to Pacifica many new ideas and approaches toward building a strong choral program. In addition to his responsibilities in choral music, Mr. Ringland serves as Music Dept. Chairman, advisor for the Choral Club, and a teacher of English.

Mr. Ricketts graduated from California State University at Long Beach earning a B.A. and M.Z. He has worked as a professional musician at Disneyland and Walt Disney World. He is a music copyist and an arranger/composer for marching bands, concert bands, choirs, and stage bands.

Valedictorian

the student of highest rank in a graduating class

Gary Clark has distinguished himself as the Class of '78 Valedictorian with a 3.9 grade average. He achieved this average with such classes as physics, Functional Math Analysis, Honors English and French V. But there's more to Gary Clark than just books and grades and studying. He is also an active and enthusiastic member of the Pacifica society.

Gary belongs to three clubs: CSF, Key Club, and Math Club, of which he is Vice President. He graduates as a sealbearer and he is the Publicity Chairman of the Senior Class. Gary also runs cross country and track.

After high school, Gary plans to attend West Point and become a dentist. He received his nomination and his appointment to the academy and now the decision has been left up to him as to whether he wants to go or not. As for the rest of his life, Gary should have no problem. He's number one here at Pacifica and there's no reason why he shouldn't continue to be at the top.

Gary Clark

Robin Thomas

Robin Thomas also has a 3.9 grade average but Gary edged her out by a few hundredths of a point so Robin has earned her place as Salutatorian of the Class of '78. Robin took such courses as physics, Functional Math Analysis, Honors English, and Computer Concepts in attaining her high average. She is a member of CSF and will graduate a sealbearer.

Robin also had a lighter side of learning. She was a member of drill team her sophomore and junior years but she didn't try out her senior year. She took classes in gymnastics for two years at private school, too.

As for her future plans, Robin will attend Occidental College on a scholarship in the fall. She will be a math/business major with a possible career in accounting. Robin may be number two at Pacifica but that is still an outstanding honor and, anyway, she tries harder.

Pete Younger Award

Dale Preston has only been at Pacifica for two years, but in that short time Dale has established himself as one of Pacifica's finest students. He has excelled in all aspects of high school life and it is this dedication and accomplishment in athletics, leadership, and academics that has earned Dale the Pete Younger Memorial Award and Scholarship.

In athletics, Dale has participated in football and track. He was a two-year letterman at end and special teams on two CIF teams and was elected Most Inspirational by his teammates his senior season. He was also a two-year track letterman and a captain in that sport his senior year. His events in track were the pole vault and the 120-yard high hurdles.

Dale established himself as a leader during his term as A.S.B. President, a term that gave the A.S.B., if nothing else, a reputation as a hard-working, smooth-running organization. Dale also represented Pacifica at the 1977 session of Boys State in Sacramento. It is Dale's feeling that A.S.B. should not be judged by what is seen (activities, etc.) but by how the organization is actually run; which is why, in his opinion, this has been a successful year for A.S.B.

Academically, Dale maintains a 3.6 grade average and a firm lock on his future. He has received a nomination to West Point and all that is left before he goes is an appointment which he hopes he will get. If he doesn't get the appointment, Dale plans to attend a private college in Illinois. He is unsure of his career hopes; but a future in engineering is not unlikely. If Dale's high school success are any indication of his future, Dale Preston will undoubtedly make his mark in the world. Congratulations, Dale.

Mariners of the Year

Norman Johnson has proven himself to be one of the finest athletes Pacifica has ever had. His participation in football, soccer, and baseball have earned him more awards and honors than any other Pacifica athlete. His contributions are further demonstrated by the fact that he has been on an unprecedented six Garden Grove League Championship teams in the past three years. It is Norman's talent, dedication, and achievement in Mariner athletics that have earned him the award of "Mariner of the Year" for 1978.

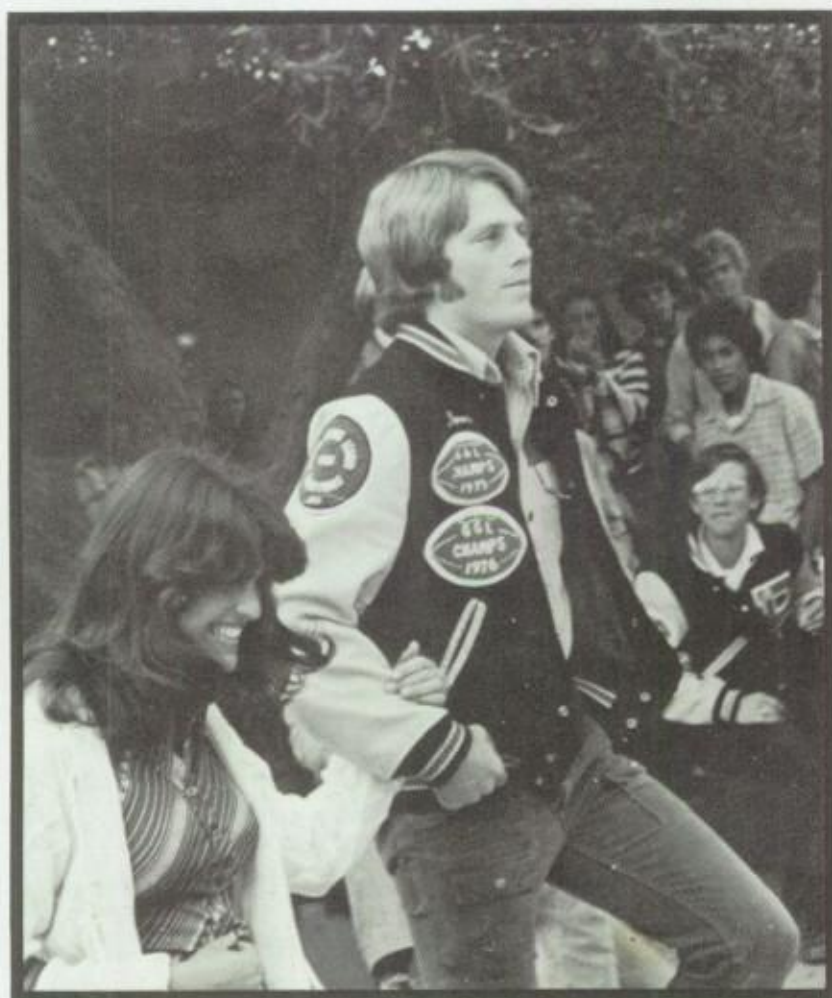

Norm has demonstrated his talents in soccer as a forward. He was voted Most Valuable Player in the Garden Grove League as a junior as well as being selected to the all CIF team. He was chosen All League again his senior year while helping his teammates to the CIF Finals.

His pitching led Pacifica's baseball team to the league title his junior year. He posted an 8-0 record with 0.55 earned run average, making both the All League and All CIF teams. It is hard to imagine what he will do his senior year in this sport (baseball had not started at the time this was published).

Norm's greatest talents were in football, though. His play at tight end, punter and kicker won for him many positions on the All League and All CIF teams. He was a Register Player of the Week and is a member of the Orange County High School Hall of Fame. It was his long field goals and booming punts that earned him a scholarship to UCLA.

Norm hopes to go into pro football but if that doesn't come about, he will still be ready for a successful future. His talents also extend into the classroom and, although he is not certain, he would like to go into the field of science. In any case, the future is bright for Norman Johnson, one of the greatest students to graduate from Pacifica.

Ability And Accomplishment In Athletics

Virginia Castelli has distinguished herself in and brought prominence to the fast rising world of women's athletics here at Pacifica. Her talents were recognized in four different sports ranging from the up and coming volleyball program to the now defunct field hockey. It is her devotion and accomplishment in all of these sports that have earned her the "Mariner of the Year" award.

In volleyball, she helped turn a sagging team into a respectable contender and a bright hope for the future. She was the Most Improved Player as a sophomore and captained this year's team to one of its finest seasons ever.

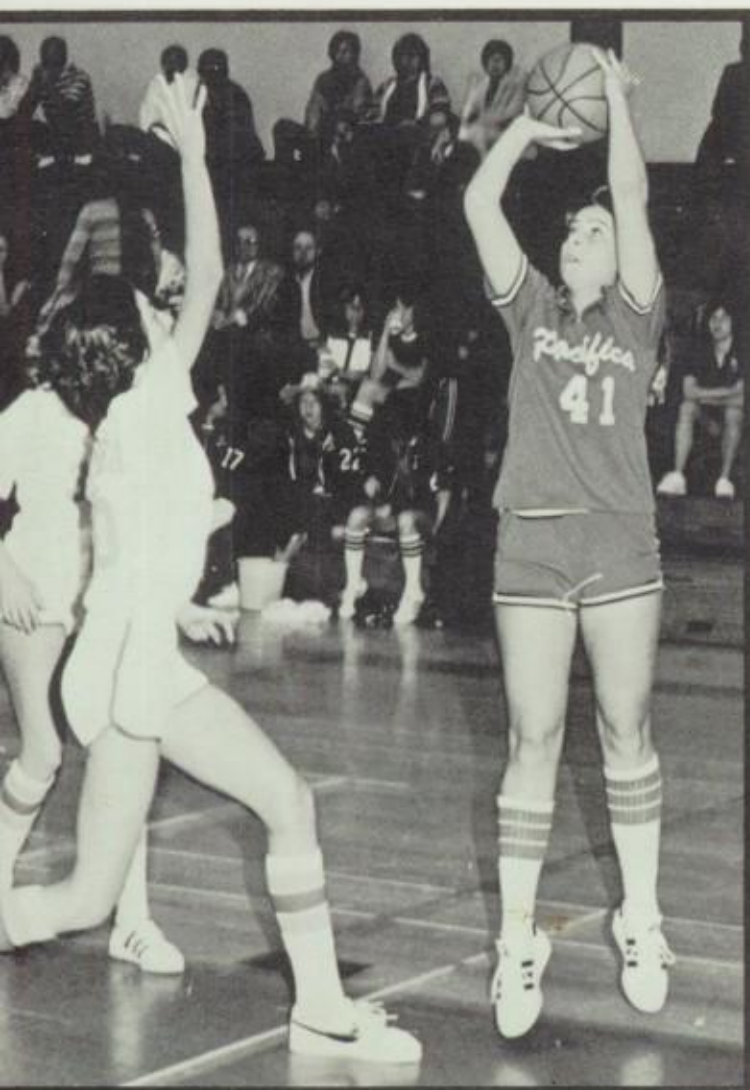

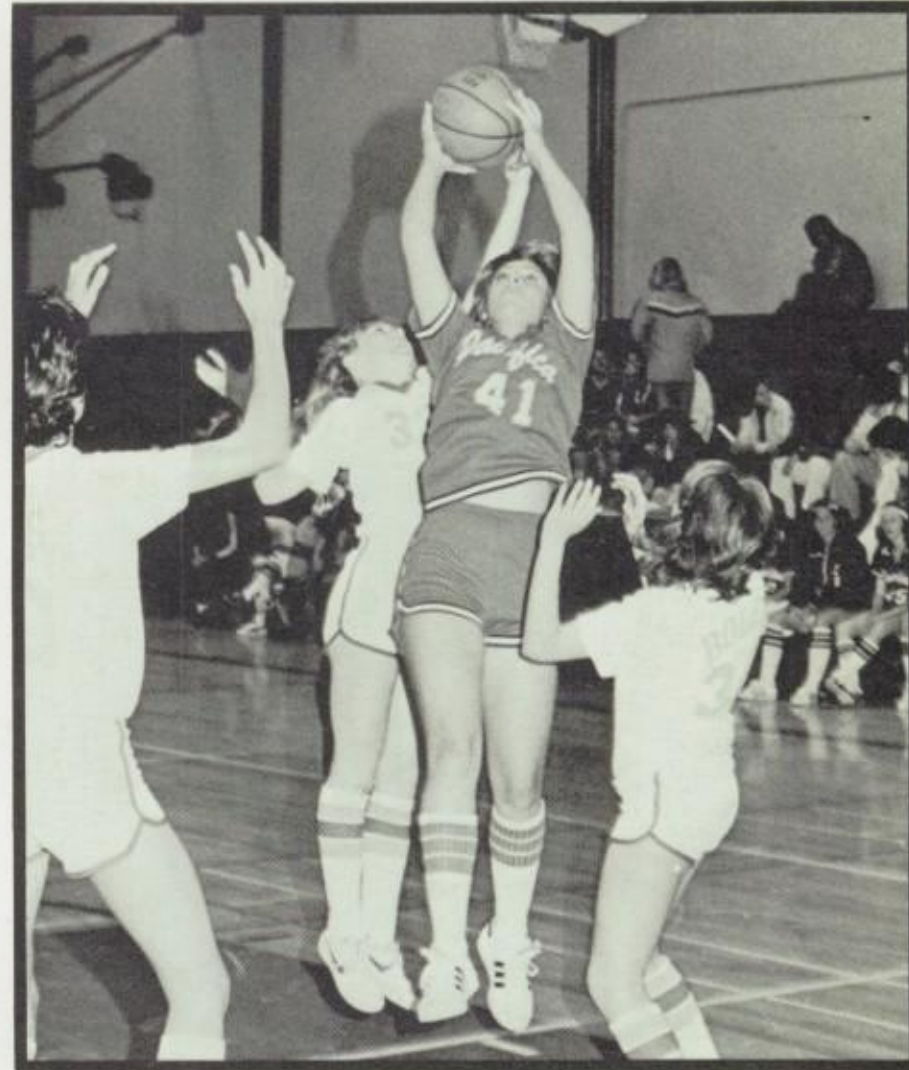

She also served as a captain for the field hockey team her sophomore year but the sport was dropped after her junior year, ending a promising future for this sport.

Her greatest talents were in basketball. She was selected Most Improved her junior year and was a co-captain her senior year. She also played on two teams that went to CIF.

Softball was her fourth sport. She received recognition her sophomore year as a member of the CIF team and she hopes that the coming season, her last, will be her best.

After graduation, "Jeanne" plans on attending Long Beach State and majoring in physical education. She hopes to continue her athletic career and pursue a career in coaching later on. At any rate, Jeanne has distinguished herself in athletics and the future beckons for more success. We wish her luck.

Most Worthy Mariners

Leanne Schneidmiller has shown that she is capable of doing just about anything around Pacifica. During these past three years, she has been a member of drill team and has helped the faculty in any way she could, be it typing notes, figuring grades, or just running errands. For her efforts in these and many other areas, Leanne has earned the award of "Most Worthy Mariner."

Drill team was by far her number one concern. Besides being a gold star member, she was a section leader her junior year and the captain her senior year. During her year of leadership, the drill team carried on its award winning reputation. The team earned three firsts (West Covina Halftime Competition, Westminster Halftime Competition, Chino Band Review), one second (Orange Halftime Competition), and one third (Santa Monica Parade).

In addition to her drill team responsibilities, Leanne was a member of the dance group which also had a successful year. The team finished eighth in the state competition and sixth in the Miss Drill Team USA competition. Leanne's dedication and creativeness were a key to the success of both teams.

In the classroom, Leanne maintained a 3.6 grade average while taking such courses as Honors English and Spanish IV. She was a member of the 1978 REEF staff, handling the spirit section. She was also active outside of school, especially in her church where she taught Sunday school.

Next year, Leanne plans on attending Golden West College. She hopes to attend a university after Golden West but at this time she is unsure if she'll attend or where she'll go. She hopes to become an airline stewardess in the meantime. Leanne's successes that she has achieved in high school will probably lead to more accomplishments in later life. Good luck, Leanne, and congratulations.

Leadership - Scholarship - Spirit - Athletics

Dave Fisher has done just about everything imaginable during his three years at Pacifica. He has participated in sports, served as editor of two school publications, chaired the 1978 A.S.B. Nominating Convention and presided as President of a school organization just to name a few of his many credits. Dave's perseverance in all phases of school life has made him this year's selection for "Most Worthy Mariner."

Athletically, Dave has distinguished himself as one of the finest runners ever to set foot on the Pacifica track. He has earned six letters in Cross Country and Track as well as being an All League choice four times, twice in each sport. He was a member of the only Cross Country team to go to CIF, a captain in both sports his senior year and was selected Co-Outstanding Runner (along with running partner, Mark Turner) in Cross Country.

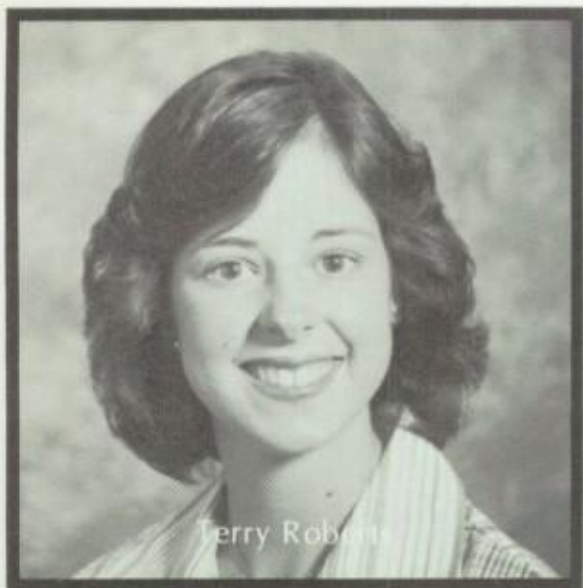

Dave was also active in many clubs and organizations at Pacifica. He was editor of this year's REEF and the Spanish language newspaper, "Hijos Del Sol." He was President of CSF, a member of Key Club, and along with Dale Preston, a delegate to the 1977 Boys State.

In the classroom, Dave has maintained a 3.9 grade average with such courses as Functional Math Analysis, Honors English and Spanish V. (His performance throughout the years in Spanish earned him the Bank of America Achievement Award in Foreign Language). He was ranked 3rd in the Class of '78 and will graduate a sealbearer.

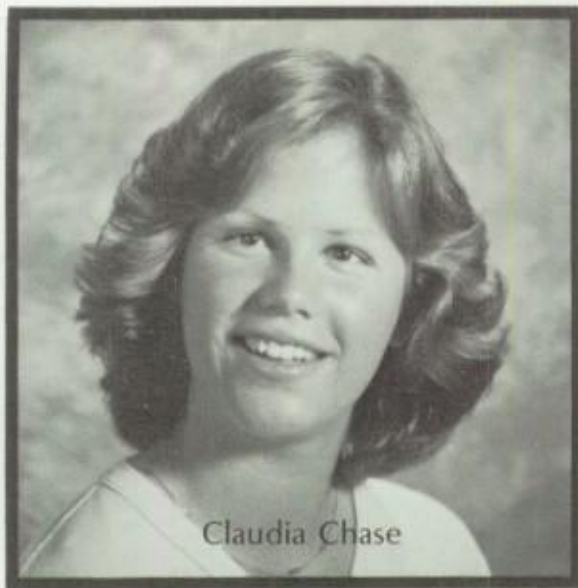

Dave hopes to enter the University of Southern California in the fall to study accounting and journalism. After graduation, he plans to enter graduate school and, in the meantime, become a CPA. Later on, he hopes to go into free lance writing. We feel that Dave will be able to do whatever he wants to in his future and we wish him luck. Congratulations, Dave.

Special thanks are in order to the following people and things:

Robert Lamm of the rock group Chicago for writing the song that provided the inspiration for this year's REEF.

Terry Kath of the rock group Chicago for giving the world much happiness in his tragically short life.

Craig Sadick for suggesting the theme.

Alyson Burns for contributing her creative and beautiful writing to the introduction.

1978 Reef Staff for giving their efforts to make this book the best possible yearbook there can be.

Paul Morines for doing much of the photography in this yearbook and supplying us with the fantastic picture that appears on the cover.

Mark Turner for serving as my personal photographer.

The Students of Pacifica for making the REEF possible.

The Cross Country team for being a bunch of wild and crazy guys.

Agony Hill at Irvine Park for being a place that I could turn to when I wanted to get away from the rest of the world.

Dick Beame and the rest of Roberts Portraits for all their valuable work on many of our pictures including all of our color photographs.

Jon Thomas of Josten's/American Yearbook Co. for helping us out with all the finer points involved in making a yearbook.

Charlie Salvani of Josten's for doing such a fine job on our yearbook at the plant.

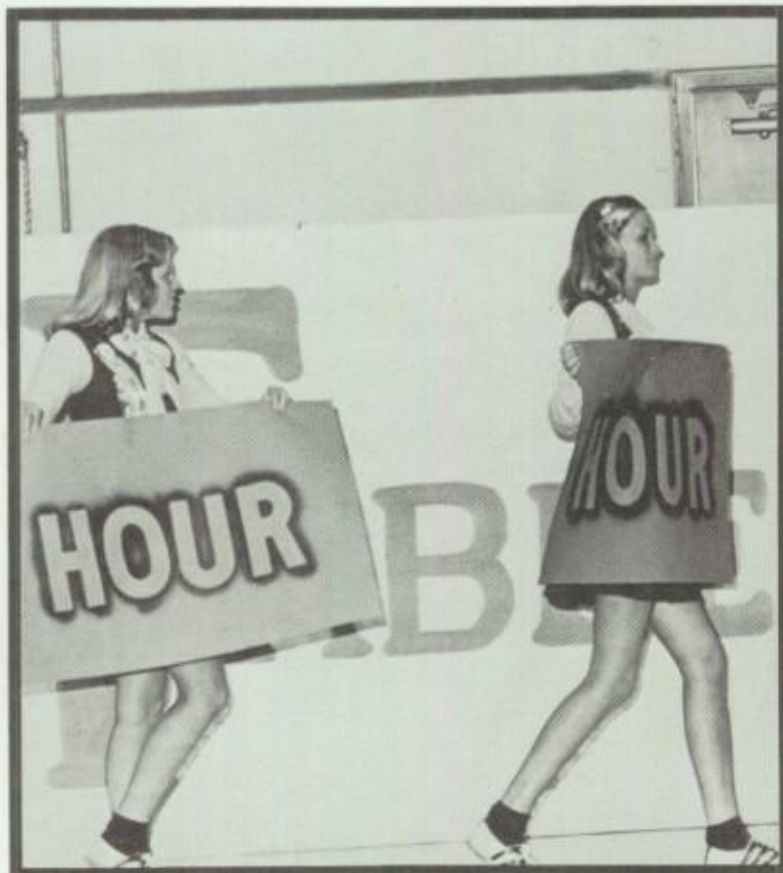

Mr. Sullivan for all his guidance this year. He did everything except layouts (which he did for the football program) and his time and assistance was one of the keys to the success of THE REEF. His very presence was enough for thanks.

To Everyone -

Thank You

Activities

Pep

Pep assemblies played a large and important role for all the students of Pacifica. The assemblies were held once a month (except during the football season when they were held every other week) and provided a two-fold purpose. First, the class schedule was shortened and, second, students had a choice of going to the assembly or enjoying an extended lunch period.

The assemblies offered a wide variety of entertainment and participation. Each assembly revolved around a different theme with special skits, contests, and activities plus regular features such as routines performed by the cheerleaders, drill team, and tall flags, music from the band (including a parade through the halls to start the assembly), introduction of athletes, and spirited class competition.

The year began with "Fire-up." Hosted by John Turner, this assembly featured routines, skits, and introductions of the football players to spur the student body into a spirited mood and welcome the new sophomores to Pacifica.

Next came "Friday Morning Live" with special guest host Dave Fisher. Guest appearances were also made by the Coneheads, Chuckie's Fables, and the PHS News Update team of Craig Sadick and Paul De Young and their interpretation of the sophomore elections.

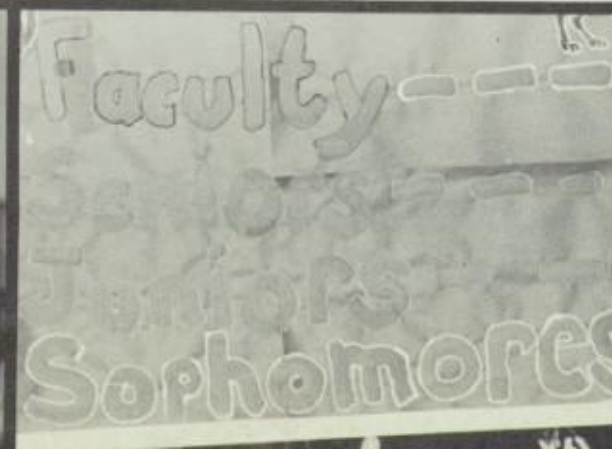

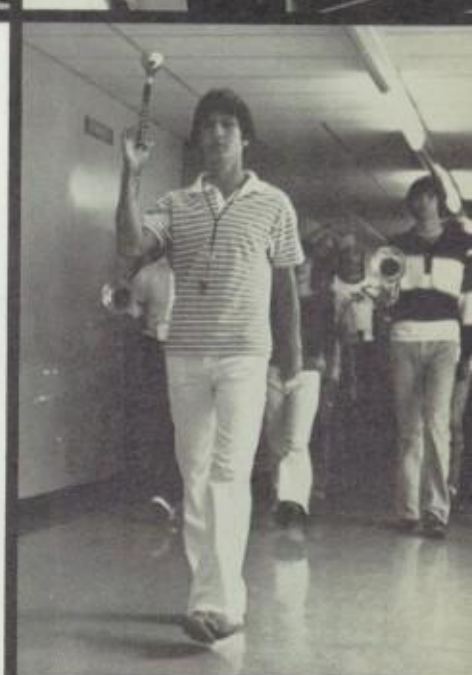

Assemblies

The month of October began with an old-fashioned pep assembly emceed by Paul De Young. The assembly proved once and for all that the days of pep rallies are dead and gone. The rousing success of this rally prompted the return to entertainment type assemblies. The month ended with the most successful assembly of the year: the annual Homecoming Show. This year's theme was "Over The Rainbow" hosted by Dorothy (Tracy Fancher), the Cowardly Lion (Matt Shaklee), the Scarecrow (Sheri Barlow), and the Tin Man (Julie O'Neal). The show was a fitting end to the Spirit Week festivities with the seniors earning top class competition honors. The assembly also served as a celebration of Halloween with a routine by the drill team and a pumpkin carving contest.

Mike Stokes and Cindy Orrett emceed the November assembly "The Better Sex" (won by the guys) while Greg Thirloway handled the hosting chores for the winter sports assembly, "Bragnet." The February assembly was "Soap-Pacifica Style" hosted by Wendy Kincaid and the "Not Ready For Anytime" drama department.

Special assemblies during the year included "Fat City," a dazzling visual and musical look at our leisure time; a concert by the Air Force band; a Christmas concert by the Choral department; and a demonstration by the California Surf soccer team.

A.S.B. Nominating Convention

January 13, 1978

Alyson Burns

Dave Fisher

Pacifica held its second annual nominating convention on Friday the 13th of January, 1978. Nearly 150 delegates and alternates crowded into the brightly decorated gym to vote for nominees for the positions of President, Vice President, and Commissioner of Activities. Alyson Burns and Dave Fisher chaired the convention and Miss Alice Rumbaugh delivered the keynote address.

After the opening ceremonies were finished, the balloting for Commissioner of Activities began. Only two ballots were required as Kathryn Wapato and Monica Prado secured nominations over Dawn Jett and Debbie Alexander.

Next, came the balloting for Vice President. Only three candidates were involved but it took a total of four days and six ballots for Tim Fisher and Nora Kalland to edge out Dave Smith for the nominations. After four ballots had been taken without any results on Friday, the spotlight shifted to the Presidential campaign. When the nominations were decided for President on only one ballot, the convention once again voted for Vice President and again there was a deadlock so the convention was adjourned until the following Monday. On Monday only one ballot was required to get Fisher and Kalland on the General Election ballot.

Brad Helm and John Turner beat out Sheri Barlow for the Presidential nominations which were held on Friday.

In the General Election, held the following Thursday, January 19, Brad Helm, Tim Fisher, and Kathryn Wapato won offices. No matter what the final results were, though, Pacifica was still treated to one of its finest and most exciting activities ever.

Almost Anything Goes

After months of planning, Almost Anything Goes finally came to be at Pacifica. In conjunction with the other schools of our district, on April 21, 1978 there will be a final Almost Anything Goes. Each school will send a combination of Sophomores, Juniors, Seniors, and faculty members to make up a winning team. Activities Coordinator, Mr. Sinnigen, says there are three purposes for this event. First, to have a good time. Second, to unify the school district. And third to "beat the hell out of the other schools!"

Events such as Cloud Burst, Hi Ho Silver, Donut Dunk, Bucketball, and Super Star Relay, make up the agenda for each week's activities. Thus far, Walker's Runners have won for the Sophomores, and The Trailblazers have won for the Juniors. The Seniors' and Faculty's teams have a lot of work and fun in front of them.

You Light Up My Life

An annual event at Pacifica, the 1978 Co-Ed was a memorable evening. The theme, "You Light Up My Life" echoed the thoughts of those who attended. Held at Garden Grove's Community Center, the atmosphere created was appealing. The dance sponsor, Student League, selected the band Starbound, delighting the dancers. A wide selection of music was played until the evening drew to a close. Highlighting the night was the crowning of the Co-Ed King. Ballots were tabulated, with Dave Perez the overwhelming victor. With the positive response of students, the Co-Ed will continue to be integrated into every school year.

Follow The Yellow Brick Road

On October 29, 1977, Twilla Bakken followed the "Yellow Brick Road" which led her to the title of Pacifica's Homecoming Queen.

The crown was presented to her by last year's Queen, Shawn Formica.

The week preceeding the game was a spirited success, with teachers and students participating together in such events as cement skiing, water balloon toss, male teachers leg competition, and lawn decorations.

Spirit Week came to a peak with a well-planned pep assembly welcoming back the alumni and proclaiming the class of '78 winners of the Spirit Flag.

The crowd responded with enthusiasm Saturday night to spur on the Mariners' undefeated football team in the game against Rancho.

The evening came to a close with a victory dance in the gym, thus making the 77-78 Homecoming the best-ever in Pacifica's History.

PACIFICA BOMBS GROVE, 41-13

On a night when Pacifica's offense looked like a fine tuned machine, the defense looked just as powerful.

It was the defense which got things rolling as defensive back Bill McNerney intercepted a Tim Golia pass on the Mariner three yard line and ran it back 97 yards for a touchdown. The Mariners went on to mount a 31-0 lead in the third quarter before the Argos got their first score.

Quarterback Mike Martin hit on five of six pass attempts, two of them for touchdowns of 29- and 17-yards to Pat Brezna and Norm Johnson. Leading the ground game was Craig Campbell who gained 52 yards on ten carries.

-Jeff Wulbrun

MARINERS GORE MATADORS

Mike Martin threw three touchdown passes and Bill McNerney scored three times to lead Pacifica to a 34-0 romp over Bolsa Grande.

On their first possession, the Mariners moved 44 yards in eight plays. The score was tallied on a 33-yard touchdown pass from Martin to McNerney. Early in the second quarter McNerney intercepted a Tom Stormer pass to set up the first of three Mariner touchdowns in that period.

The second half was a defensive struggle highlighted by the strong kicking of Norman Johnson who continually pinned Bolsa deep in its own territory. The stalwart Mariner defense allowed the Matadors into Pacifica territory only once, late in the fourth quarter. The Mariners ended their scoring in the third quarter on another touchdown pass from Martin to McNerney.

-Daryl Stemm

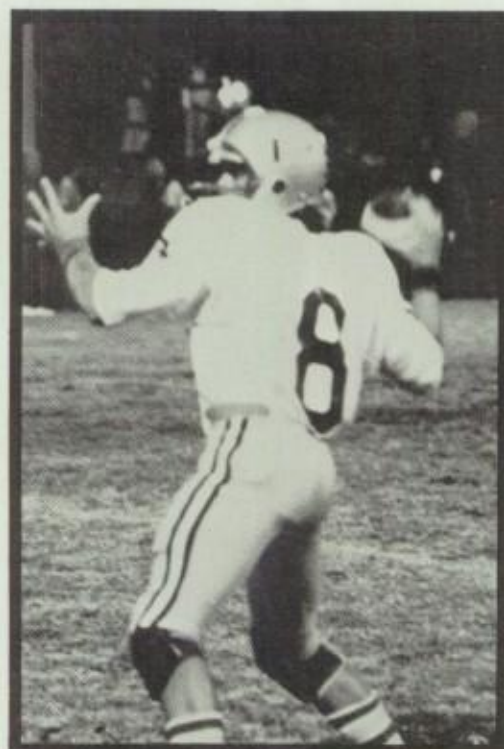

MARINERS EDGE LOBOS

A flat Pacifica football team squeaked by Los Amigos 14-6 to remain undefeated and extend its winning streak to 16 games in regular season play. The Mariner defense set up the first score by recovering a Los Amigos fumble deep in Lobo territory. On the next play Craig Campbell swept wide for the score and Pacifica went into the locker room with a 7-0 half-time lead.

The Mariners got on the board again in the third quarter when Mike Martin hit Norm Johnson with a 21-yard strike to open up a 14-0 advantage. Late in the fourth quarter the Lobos made a game of it by marching 80 yards for a score. A two-point passing attempt failed though, as did the ensuing on-side kick enabling the Blue Machine to run out the clock.

Craig Campbell gained 101 yards to lead all rushers as the Mariner offense rolled up 260 total yards.

-Daryl Stemm

RANCHO TRICKS PACIFICA

Pacifica was forced to reach into its own bag of tricks two days before Halloween to pull out an 8-8 tie against a surprisingly tough team from Rancho Alamitos.

Rancho stunned the usually tough Mariner defense by scoring on a trick play in the third quarter. Rancho snapped the ball without a huddle and then scored on a 44-yard touchdown pass as a surprised Pacifica defense looked on. Luck was again on the Vaqueros side when a wide snap from center on the conversion ended in a recovered fumble and a two-point play, giving Rancho an 8-0 lead.

Unbeaten in league play since 1975, the Mariners had their hands full. It was not until midway through the 4th quarter that the Blue Machine came alive. With 6:09 remaining in the contest, Bill McNerney took the ball on a flanker reverse and danced through the secondary for a 33-yard touchdown. The tying two-point conversion attempt was successful as quarterback Mike Martin rifled a pass to McNerney.

-Craig Sadick

MARINERS SHOW SANTIAGO WHO IS BEST

The Cavaliers got "bombed" by quarterback Martin, who completed 12 of 18 passes for 177 yards enroute to a 13-6 victory before a near capacity crowd at Garden Grove Stadium. Both teams played "flat" in the last several weeks, but the defenses were far from flat in the game. Martin speared his team's first scoring drive midway through the first period, when he found flanker Bill McNerney on a 47-yard bomb to the 6. Two plays later Craig Campbell cut through the line for a four-yard touchdown run. Norm Johnson kicked the conversion for a 7-0 lead. Santiago retaliated on its next series behind some fine passing by quarterback Dean Diaz. The Cavs had been unable to gain any ground in their first two possessions, but marched 80 yards to score in 13 plays. The conversion was missed though, giving Pacifica a 7-6 lead at half-time.

The Mariners got their second touchdown midway through the third period, when Martin faked the handoff rolled left and found Johnson in the end zone for a six-yard touchdown. The drive started on the Cav 45 with the key play a 17-yard pass to receiver Pat Brezna that went to the 12.

PACIFICA WRAPS UP CROWN, 42-14

Pacifica turned three La Quinta turnovers into three quick scores as the Mariners trounced the Aztecs, 42-14, and secured its sixth straight Garden Grove League title. The Mariners finished the year with an 8-0-1 record with a 6-0-1 mark in league.

Bill McNerney led the attack, scoring the first two touchdowns on a 6-yard pass from Mike Martin and 65-yard punt return and then scoring another touchdown later on with a 9-yard run.

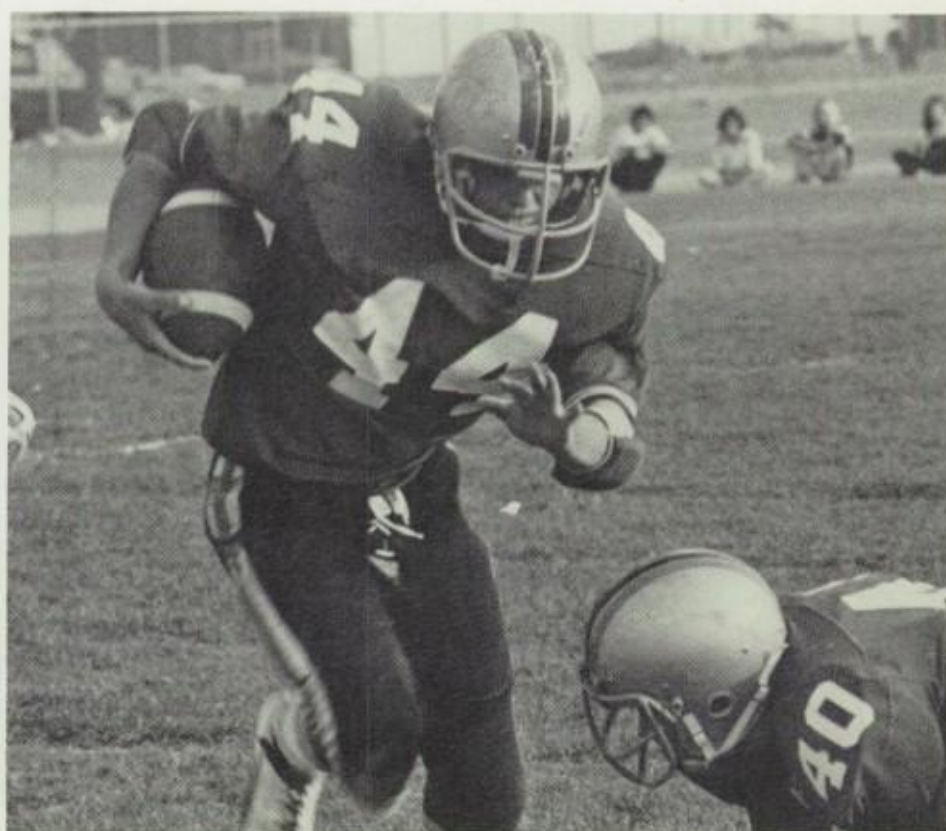

The Aztecs posed a serious threat in the third quarter when they scored to make it 21-8 but the Mariners then proceeded to blow La Quinta out of the stadium with 21 more points. The Aztecs ended the scoring in the 4th quarter when they drove 80 yards for a harmless touchdown.

COACH TERLAAK

In only its third year of existence the soccer team took it to the limit, becoming the first team in the history of Pacifica, as well as the whole Garden Grove League, to go to C.I.F. finals. This year's team found just the right balance of a dominating offense which scored 68 goals in League competition, and a strong defense which held opponents to a scant 3 goals. The team began the season with an easy workout, beating El Toro 3-1. Then they started league competition, and so too did the destruction. The men in blue started off by beating Grove 5-1 and the wheels were rolling. Pacifica rolled through League with great ease and confidence, racking up a 13-0-0 record.

With the regular season behind them, Pacifica geared up for C.I.F. competition. They beat Paramount and Redondo Beach in the 1st and 2nd rounds, by scores of 5-0 and 3-1 respectively. Then came a hard fought battle in the quarter-finals against #1 ranked Pioneer. The Mariners came out on top 4-2. The Big Blue Machine went on to the semi-finals, and an easy 3-1 win over Alta Loma. With this Pacifica travelled to Indio to play Calexico in the C.I.F. Finals. The Mariners, playing the hardest game of their lives, could not find the one goal necessary to bring the ultimate victory home to P.H.S., they were defeated 2-1 after 6 periods of overtime.

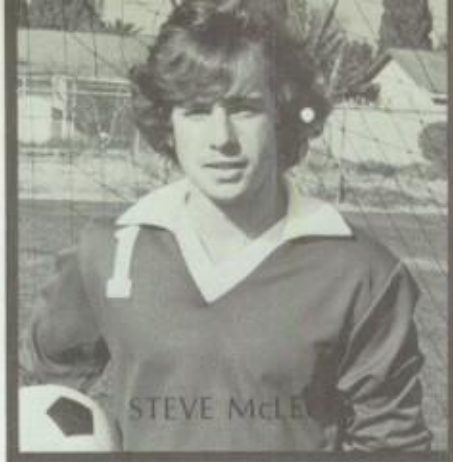

The J.V. team finished its season undefeated also. They had a 13-0-0 record. Their success insures Pacifica some great soccer teams for many years to come.

With all but four of the Varsity returning, the Mariner Wrestling Team shows promise for next year. The team has been maturing during the last year. This year's team finished with a better record than the 1977 team, but still finished a disappointing 4th in league. The team finished with a 4-2 league record. There were fine efforts in league finals competition with 5 Mariners placing. One of the five, Mike Zanaboni, placed first in his division. Zanaboni will be returning to lead a stronger, more experienced team to a hopeful league championship.

The Junior Varsity Wrestling team looked extremely strong this year, placing first in league with a 5-1 record. The team started the season a little shaky, posting a disappointing 1-2 record in non-league action. But the mediocre preseason gave way to a very strong showing in league. The Mariners completely destroyed their opponents, outscoring them 240 to 69, with only one loss to Bolsa. With this year's season behind them, the Mariners look toward bigger and better things in the years to come.

Malquist Leads Basketball To An Improved Season

This year's Varsity basketball team made a slight improvement over last year's finishing out the season with a 6-13 record, 2-10 in league. Although the season was disappointing, the final record should not overshadow the hard work and effort put in by the players. An extensive conditioning and weight training program preceeded the season, making this year's team one of the best conditioned in recent years; yet hard work does not necessarily score points. Perhaps in the future Pacifica will find the right balance of talent and hard work, and the result will be a winning season.

Swimmers Paddle Through Another Season

Head Coach Dean DePeri with his able-bodied scorekeepers.

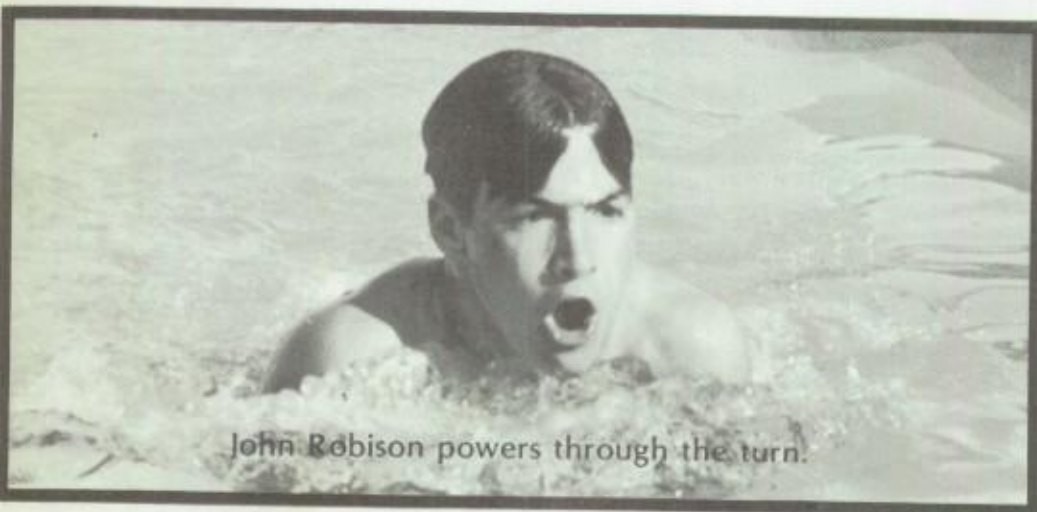

Swimming had another mediocre season this year. After a good season and hopes for league placing, they drowned at League Finals, finishing 7th and 7th in League overall. The team was almost the same as last year with few graduates and many returning lettermen. The team had difficulty practicing at the beginning of the season because of repairs being made in the pools. With a large J.V./Frosh-Soph squad there is hope for the future.

With the loss of many Senior starters from last year's League Champion team, Mariner Baseball has a new beginning this year. Not only have many fine players been lost from last year but also Coach Gereb has left and starting pitcher Norm Johnson is out due to a severe illness. The new team weathered the pre-season very well with a 4-1 record. So far they have a 1-1 league record, with a loss to Garden Grove (6-2) and a win over Bolsa (4-2). This year's team has a fine blend of experience and youth with 7 returning lettermen. Some of the lettermen being underclassmen. This team has an excellent chance at yet another League Championship. Contributing excellent hitting are Denny Schafer, a strong arm with Paul Morines, and Darren Puskarich behind the plate.

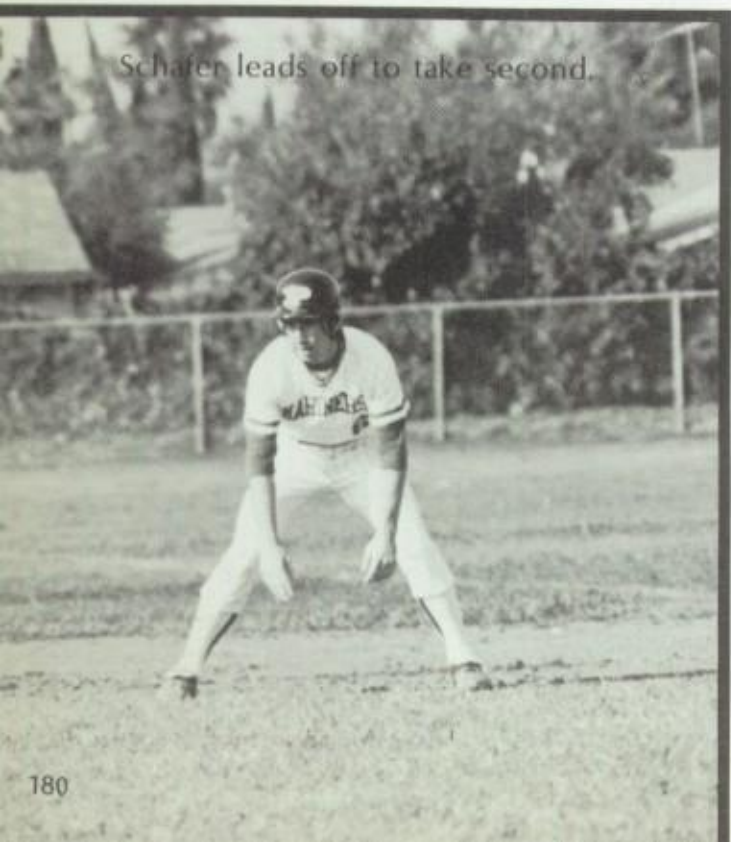

There is a very bright future for Mariner Baseball. It won't be difficult to stock for the future with players like Sophomores Mike Samuel and Keith Valenzuela already training and playing Varsity.

Mariner Trackmen Look Towards Best Season Ever

This year's Mariner track squad looks to be the best ever, with high hopes of a first ever Garden Grove league title. This year's team is considerably stronger than last years, with much more depth all around. The sprint team looks to be one of the best ever, with Dave Caserta and Bill McNerny forming the nucleus and Mike Eaton, Russ Miyashiro, Cliff Cuttrel and Kevin Talley adding their talents. The field events look very strong with Kevin McRae moving up to fill the shoes of his older brother in the shot and discus. Mike Naughton, Francis Falvo, and Ken Seyler make up an excellent high jump team, and Dale Preston and Paul Smail add much needed depth to the pole vault. The distance team shows the most improvement overall. In past years the Mariners have had many great individuals, but it lacked depth. This year's distance team has that depth. With seniors Mark Turner and Dave Fisher leading the team; John Turner, Carroll Moseley, Tim Fisher, Dan Nielson, Chuck Elsea, and Jim Hess have shown great improvement and help to round out an excellent distance team. With all this talent behind them, the Mariners traveled to Huntington Beach for a non-league meet. Having never beaten the highly ranked Oilers, Pacifica held their own this time around and came out on top with an impressive 68-58 victory. The Mariners then went to the Long Beach Relays where they took no worse than third in all events. With the pre-season behind them the Mariners opened league with two victories over Bolsa and Grove. Next came the Rolling Hills Invitational, where Pacifica looked very strong in winning the Varsity division team trophy. With only a third of the season gone, and many excellent performances already turned in, the Mariners look to be in a good position to win the league title.

Coach Varvas

Vizzini feels the pain

Just like the Varsity, the Sophomore team is very strong this year and looks to be in contention for a league title. The sophs don't have as much depth as the Varsity but nonetheless they do have outstanding individuals. With Tom Cook and Kyle Moffett in the sprints, Greg Vizzini and Stu Farber in the distance events, and a strong field event crew, the Sophomores should have enough talent to be a factor in the league meet. They already have two league victories behind them, one over Grove, the other over Bolsa. The sophs have also had impressive showings in the Long Beach Relays and the Rolling Hills Invitational.

A collage of six black and white photographs showing volleyball players in action, arranged around a central circular graphic of a volleyball. The photos depict various stages of play: a player jumping to hit the ball, a player bumping the ball, a player bumping the ball, a player bumping the ball, a player bumping the ball, and a player bumping the ball. The central graphic is a large circle with a volleyball pattern inside. The entire collage is framed by a thick black border.

Disappointment continued to strike a familiar note in this year's Volleyball teams. The entire Varsity team consisted of eight Seniors, all whom had played before. Yet, the team fell short of expected goals, despite years of experience. Midway through the season, injuries hampered the play of Denise Meeks and Colleen Gale. The enthusiasm of both team and coach remained steady throughout the grueling months. Underclassmen will be filling the spaces of graduating players. Best wishes are offered.

The 1978 Girls' tennis season was described as a "building year" by those involved. With only three returning Seniors, this fact put tremendous pressure on the top players. A "back to the basics" approach was used throughout the training period to reinforce and develop new skills. Although the team placed low within the Garden Grove league, the outlook for the future is promising. Noteworthy performances were made by such Mariner Netters as Sheri Phillips, Cindy Milonzi and Shelley Phillips.

Second in the league last year, the girls basketball team is looking to get a lot of mileage out of four returning varsity players, Sue Rogers, Virginia Castelli, Nancy Modaffari, and Lisa Tatham. Coach Peggy Mahfood says the team must mature fast, considering the way competition is shaping up. But with the Mariners' great enthusiasm and talent the season looks good.

The Girls' Track team, now in its second year, has gotten off slow from the blocks. Weather conditions have cancelled meets, hampering the improvement of runners. KEEP ON TRACKIN'

Under the coaching of Varsity coach Pat Thompson, and J.V. coach Gary Seanz, the girls swim teams are looking to an exciting '78 season. With last year's returning swimmers to lead the team, Pacifica should do well in league this year. The diving team should also help make this year's swim teams a success.

The 1978 Gymnastics team consists of a very optimistic group of girls. Under the leadership of Captain Sheri Smith, the young, growing team has a lot of potential. Outstanding gymnasts such as Judy Lunt, and Lisa Schneider should contribute to the team's effort of trying to capture a league title. Coach Bellochio is anxious to see the team perform well.

The Varsity Softball team is looking forward to an outstanding season. The team consists of many new players, with each of them having much experience. With fine hard hitting, enthusiasm, and a total team effort, the 1978 season should be successful.

Under the coaching of Rene Zoerlein, the J.V. team should have a productive season.

Once again the girls of the badminton team will try to win the league title. This year's team is a young inexperienced team. Only three girls are returning from the 1977 season, Cindy Millonzi, Sheri Phillips, Wendy Lakin. With the expert coaching of National Champion Judy Ann Kelly, the team is bound to be on top this year.

Smile for You

My smile is for you
 The one on my face
 The one in my voice
 And the one writing itself on my heart
 Your smile is a message
 Communicating love
 And sensitivity
 To me
 As we speak
 Your look is a treasure
 And I cherish each glance
 Hoping you are understanding why
 I want to be near you always
 The night is cool and sweet
 And you are like the night
 Wrapping me in quiet beauty
 And holding me within your dream
 So, my love, I will smile for you
 And if it's not too much to ask
 I'd like you to smile too
 And know that you are unique
 And possess the depth I seek
 For if god has led us here
 Why turn away in fear
 And being in tune with one another
 Your voice is as gentle
 As the rolling
 Of the rich brown earth
 And from the music you inspire Sprouts a solitary blossom
 That spreads it's petals around us
 We are isolated in a crowd of people
 And if you weren't here
 I'd be alone and sad, lost in the throng
 But you are here, and I am glad
 So turn me and smile
 The way you do

Remembering

Memories, how they come back so clearly
to me
Through them I remember just how it used to be
Some of them painful, others too good to be true
These memories start and end with you
Soft winds blowing so gently they are coming my way
With them come the memories passing by each day
Oh, those breezes, they keep movin' on Leaving back the thoughts I once lost and now have found Remembering makes me think of all the times
we laughed and cried
I wanted those feelings to come back, haven't got them, but I tried
In my heart, I thought we could do it, tie up the loose ends
But on the surface I guess I knew torn strings cannot mend
What was at one time good has become a thing of the past
We thought it would live to eternity but it did not last We really enjoyed our time together-shared each and every day But deep inside I knew we'd have to each go our own way Memories, they now come back so clearly
to me
Through them I remember just how it used to be
Some of them painful, others too good to be true
These memories start and end with you.

pushing through the endless cycle
into the deep recesses of an uncluttered mind learning to cope with a new beginning the edges work their way in the centre works its way out time is squeezed and the cycle is slowed and man's edges-no edge and man's centre-no core and man's life-no more pushing through the endless cycle
to be ended by a mind now cluttered with the ruins of time.

Letting Go

Old friends
 You have taken me through overalls & chapsticks and lost loves Soothed my wounds and helped make more I have loved each one of you special & different and you gladly accepted my outstretched hand
 I asked you to follow, but Did you really think I'd leave a trail of bright hair ribbons along each path I took?
 The sky above us is the same and has seen us through our shared happinesses and blind time of sorrow
 now I see new clouds on the horizon not the small, light ones of previous days but large clouds filled with salty tears of hope for the unknown
 clouds that may separate us forever
 No, we can't pretend to make time stand still anymore
 The sand is gone
 Our time is up
 Goodbye Mozart and Marble Sundaes and dark rooms of confidences

 I hope you don't mind if I use your smiles and laughter
 for future reference but then again
 The pain of great loss & unforeseen change can only be seen in a mirror.

Silence and Haze

O, beautiful city of angels city of dreamers
 I passed through you
 one silent morning
 while you slept
 O, city of posters announcing the arrival of Rock's new Messiahs
 I passed through you
 one morning
 when it was cool enough to think Streets paved with aspiration made of blood and tears of stories that are told
 How many bodies have been bought and sold
 City of bright lights
 City of loud nights
 City of black and white
 Colours and shades
 I passed through the morning haze
 City of treachery fantasy palace- I passed by and wondered Where all the hustlers slept what do they crawl from under City, battered and broken down
 City of fallen stars
 City of custom cars
 City in the morning hours
 Silence and haze
 City, you've seen them all the best and the bravest oldest and latest
 Do I stop here or go on?
 City of divinity blessed is the lack of shame
 Your holy name
 City of last chances
 City of lost romances
 City where I come to find some peace of mind
 City of angels
 that must fall
 I'm fascinated by it all
 But the light is green and I must go
 I look into your skies
 you seem to know
 You hypnotize and you control
 But I'm not ready to lose my soul
 City devine
 City of mine
 City of infinite dreams
 Save one for me

Too late, too late cried the bell in the church tower the sun is setting now can't you see it?
 darkness is coming Too fast, too fast
 Where were you in the bright, new beginning of morning?
 Sleeping
 Where were you at noon, when the sun was warm and smiling?
 Dreaming
 And where were you in the afternoon when the wind refreshed tired minds?
 Crying.
 Too late, too late
 the bell cried again
 no more tomorrows
 only long, dark endings.

A Tribute to a Friend

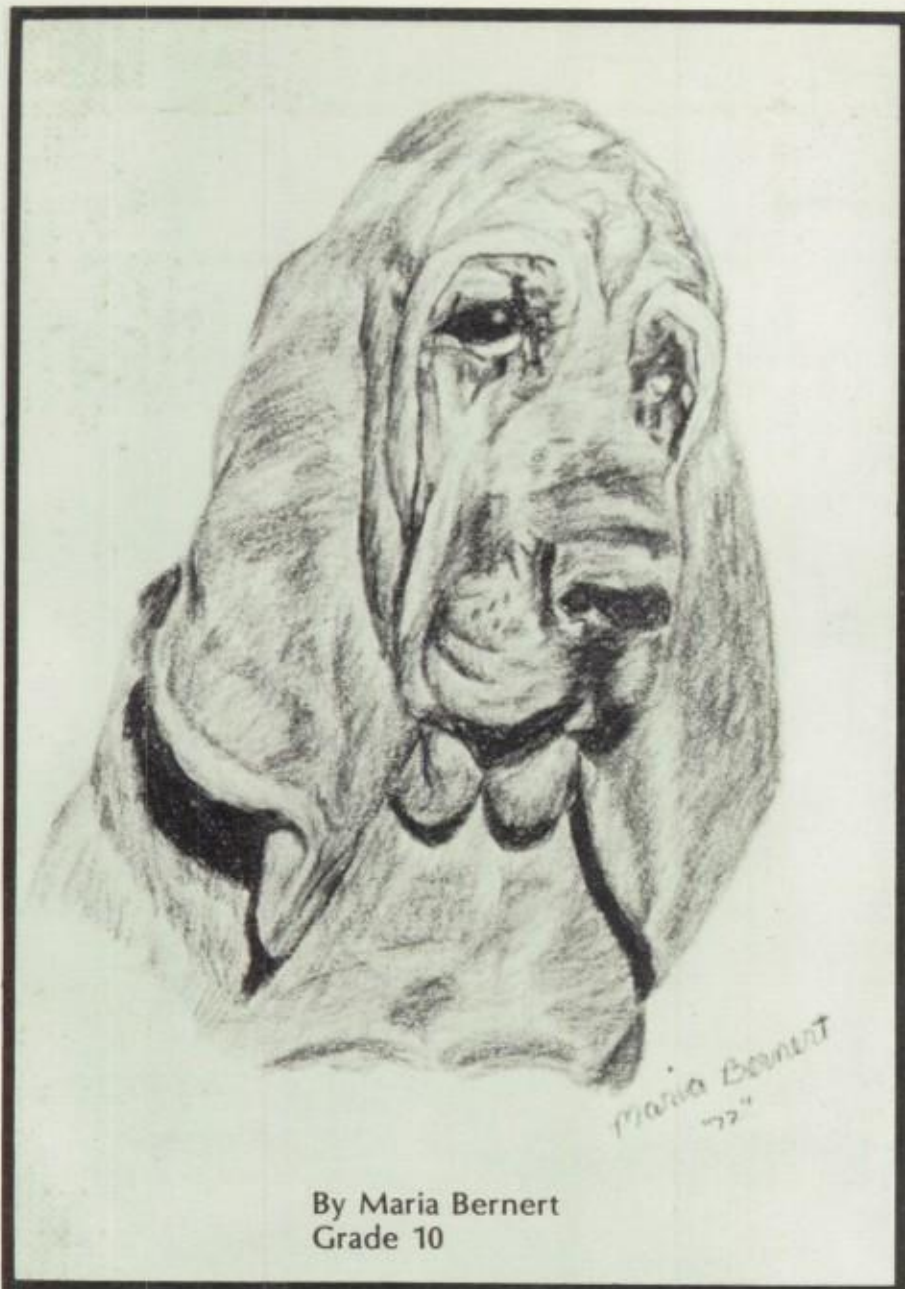

You grow up in a world full of life and death;
Full of worry and despair
Always something to prepare
Then one day you meet someone,
Who makes your life a happy one;
Together you spend the years
Full of laughter, never tears.
Then one day your sorrow comes, when you find out from crying eyes your friend has died of cancer.
Your eyes well up full of tears
As you remember all the years
The fond memories that linger on,
Although your friend is dead and gone.
And when your heart feels like breaking in two
Don't let the sorrow get to you.
Remember the good times, forget the blue
But most of all remember
He loved you.

Time

Time can be a lonely word,
Holding the future and the past in it's grip.
There's no escaping it,
Every breath you take,
Every dream you make,
passes with the time.
Time makes the carefree children,
Grow up to see the world as it really is;
The older, as it used to be.
There's no escaping time,
It passes too quickly when you're enjoying yourself,
And goes too slowly when you pray for it to pass.
With every second, time creates a new memory,
that can never be re-lived;
Make the most of every minute.
Time can make you crazy;
Bringing you something that you looked forward to,
Then taking it away so quickly.
Time can bring new feelings,
Leaving behind old loves, and new hurts.
Four simple letters can not describe this daily existence.
Time rings it's toll on everyone,
But it brings more good times than bad;
Remember that.

Facing Graduation

Faces of Old, Faces of New people we know, people we knew Growing together, drifting apart
 Always an ending, now a new start At graduation you all will grow nearer
 And all of your friends seem so much dearer
 And as you say your final good-bye
 One last embrace and one more cry
 A "keep in touch" and "promise I will"
 A "remember when" but better, still,
 A place in my heart, you'll always stay
 This is what's said as you go your way.

you dropped a seashell on the sand
I watched you for a long time graceful perfectionist walk lightly, intently bounce with careless dignity and practices poise purposeful, playful music, ever-flowing through your fingers into everything touched and everyone you walk alone
a butterfly, lightly touching, flying on past me looked around in a condescending way seeing all, absorbing me disappeared and left me wandering you kicked the sand uncovering a time, long ago
I tried to see but I was too far away playfully dodging the waves in a nonchalant manner
because they weren't go - in - able yet you moved and the sun hurt my eyes
I cried out your name but you didn't hear just sauntered through the stability and reality for no one to see or analyze but I watched shoulders that hold a lot of memories and rationalizations eyes the colour of the aqua sea crashing against the shores of my thoughts
you dropped a sea shell on the sand
I picked it up
but you had already gone.

i never thought when i'd waved goodbye that the distance would be so great that we could possibly change from kindred spirits to very near strangers that all those years of childhood of the moments shared of the memories set down on glossy photographs could suddenly disappear into an occasional letter i never thought the blood oaths that seemed so special —everyone knows that it meant forever—could turn to dust
that all my memories served no purpose.
the worst part is the lesson learned and the ring of familiarity to losing a friend to time to distances to differences i'm not the first to face the future after losing the past.

Morning Announcements

sputter ... crack ... hello ...
does this thing work? ...
...and have it in by Thursday ...
so buy your copy today! ... thank you,
and have a ramblin' kinda day ...

I've not been here long-
 But what I've seen I like-
 I pass from one place to another-
 Coming and going very freely.
 Today is the day I must go out and make another decision-
 A large one-
 To stay with old friends-
 In which I've had many-
 Or to search for different relationships-
 In which I might find,
 And give,
 A different sort of love-
 We all choose the latter-
 And we slowly say our last farewells-
 A warm embrace-
 A loving kiss-
 A promise to keep in touch-
 An ending-
 Or is it a new beginning
 To the new world,-
 The faces-
 The smiles we'll find-
 In our search to find ourselves.

Oh, my dear elusive poncho are you the one that put the gumdrops in my locker?
 Wit (oh wit! So much of it!)
 Can't you see? Oh stable one...
 Wow! A friend? Yes I do!
 but I want all the flower petals that you drop Selfish? Yes! Why not?
 Red satin engulfing the un-engulfable memory lingers on...
 I'll hold your brush if you hold my hand (too many conditionals)
 So close; ever too light (ha-ha!)
 The needs grow deep Injected in sleep
 Shall I sing, or leave my flower alone?
 these emotions, I fear are not in your line but try, we can only thud.
 20-20 (my foot!)
 Shall I begin again?
 I love you but I lost my train of thought...
 Oh, yes, I'm radio-active; hold me.
 What limit paper? (Off the wall enough for you?)
 Ah, noise we make!
 Can we? Should we? How about closer this time?
 some reassurance?
 Maybe again....

HEARTS AREN'T TROPHIES

This poem is for you unruly guys,
Who steal young-girls hearts by surprise.
For their esteem you hold no regard,
And your misleading affections leave innocents' marred.

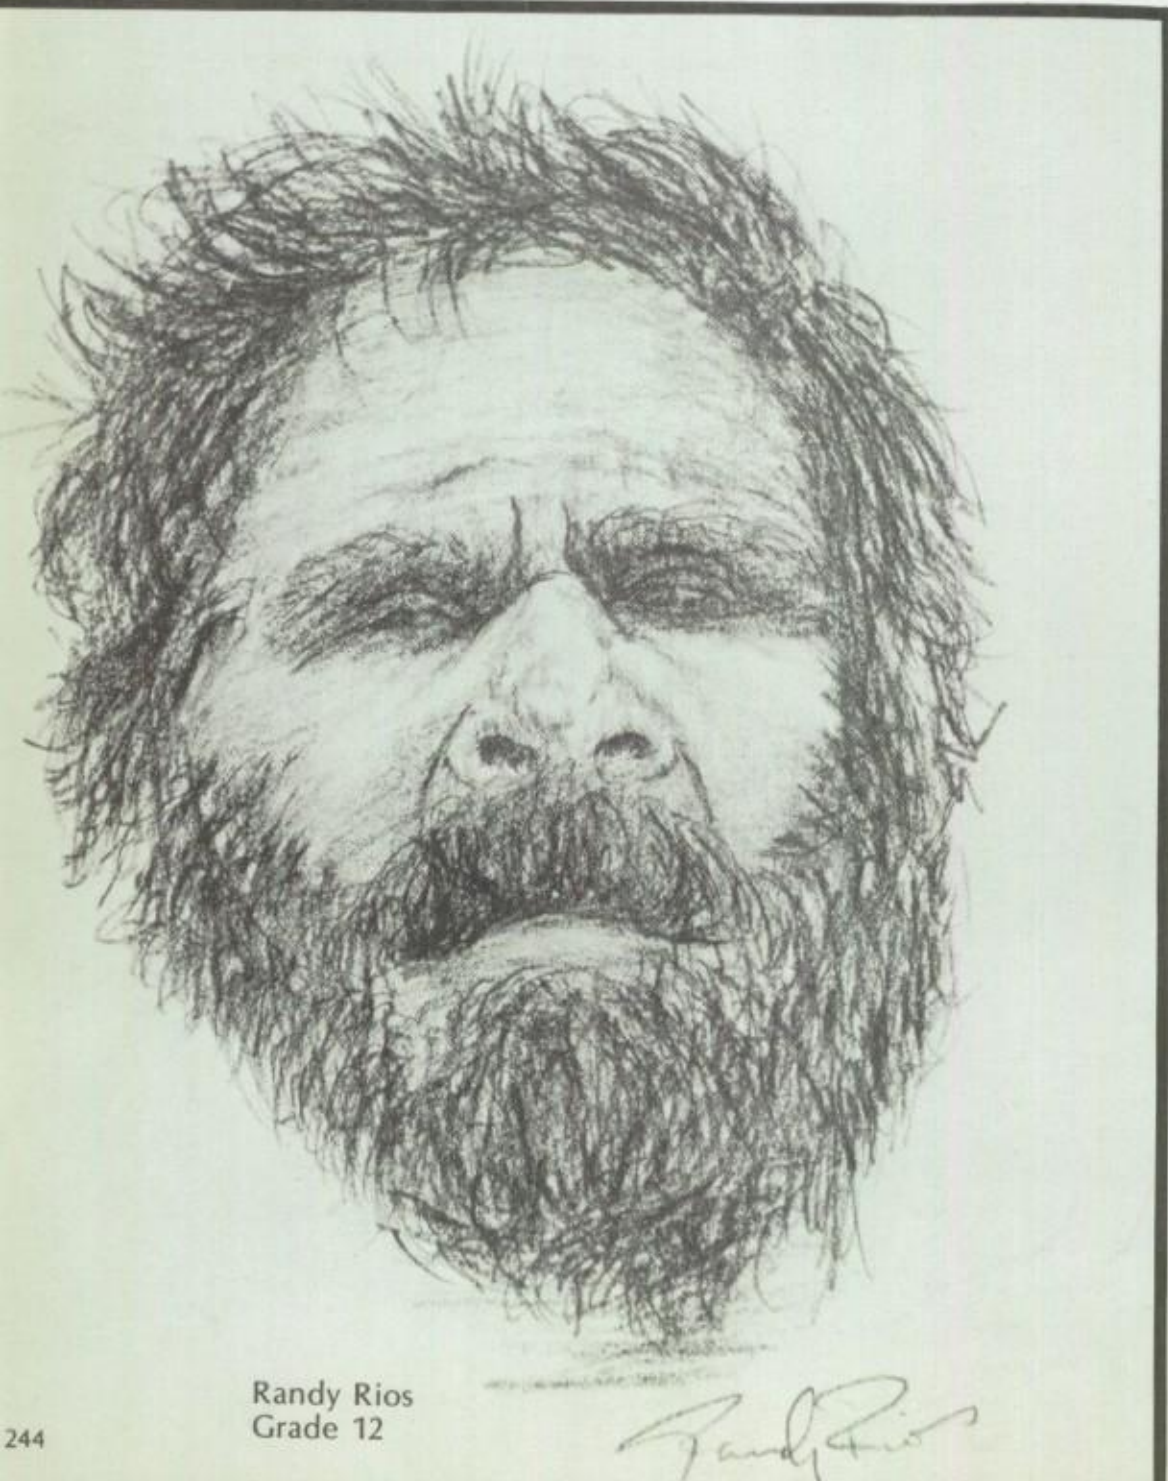

You cast a spell on her that night,
That will soon be gone come mornings light.
At home her phone lies deathly still,
If the silence doesn't kill her, the heartbreak sure will.

While you sit at home and boast of your prize,
Sizing up the experience with all of the guys,
Her patience explodes along with the pain,
Of realizing your sweettalk was only a game.

So add a new notch to your ladder of pride,
Diminish the fact, that to someone, you lied.
And I bet you're all wondering how I know you so well,
I'll let you in on a secret,
I was once under that spell.

Patty Loux

I can hear it,
the rain,
falling stealthily in that perpetual,
maddening rhythm.
Drip, drip, drip.
I can see the water,
excessive, in swirling puddles and my reflection is in one of them.
I watch the puddle,
as the reflection becomes distorted and unclear as if my face was contorting
in pain.
The drip steadily continues as I find myself falling, weightless into never-ending
black nothingness.
When I can see again,
sight recovered,
I find myself trapped, staring up from the nothingness of the puddle which has all of eternity to play its maddening tricks
on me... all I can do is wait, wait for another who is foolish enough to peer into the swirling water so that he too may be trapped and I will have some company.

I can look at him and see the tow-headed boy who once terrorized the neighborhood.
I can see the blue-eyed monster that ran through vacant lots collecting grasshoppers and lizards to put in some poor little girl's desk or to chase his sister with.
The impishness still shines through.
I can see the competitiveness that made him play baseball with such a deathly passion; the competitive nature that made him prove to all others on the block that he could ride his skateboard the fastest, make the most free-throws, throw a football the farthest even though he hated the game,
run the longest distance, make the best spitwads and hate girls the most.
Even though he no longer catches lizards or plays baseball, and even though his skateboard was stored in the garage long ago and he's the one who likes girls the best, he'll smile at me in that certain way and then I can look at him and see that little boy...
the impishness still shines through

A Eulogy

He was once a human being, but he gave it up when he found he couldn't make a profit. After all, there is no market for people who detest insurance companies and a society that supposedly belongs to the young but only because they fight the wars that the old geezers in control make up and don't fight themselves because they are senile and have rheumatism and anyway they'd rather see young people get blown to hell even though these youngsters would rather be friends with the enemy, but with responsibilities come rights and young people don't have either so they end up doing the dirty work for the old people who do have rights.

There are very few people like him left in this world (the others were shot). He tries hard to realize the beauty and the miracle of a world with people who appreciate one another; but this conception is just a dream, a dream he daringly tried to capture in this yearbook. His failure, though, has prompted him to drive his '72 Corolla with the tape deck spewing out the sounds of Dan Fogelberg, Jackson Browne, John David Souther, the Eagles, and Steve Martin until he finds the true meaning of life or until his car runs out of gas, whichever comes first (bet on the former because his car gets 30 miles to the gallon).

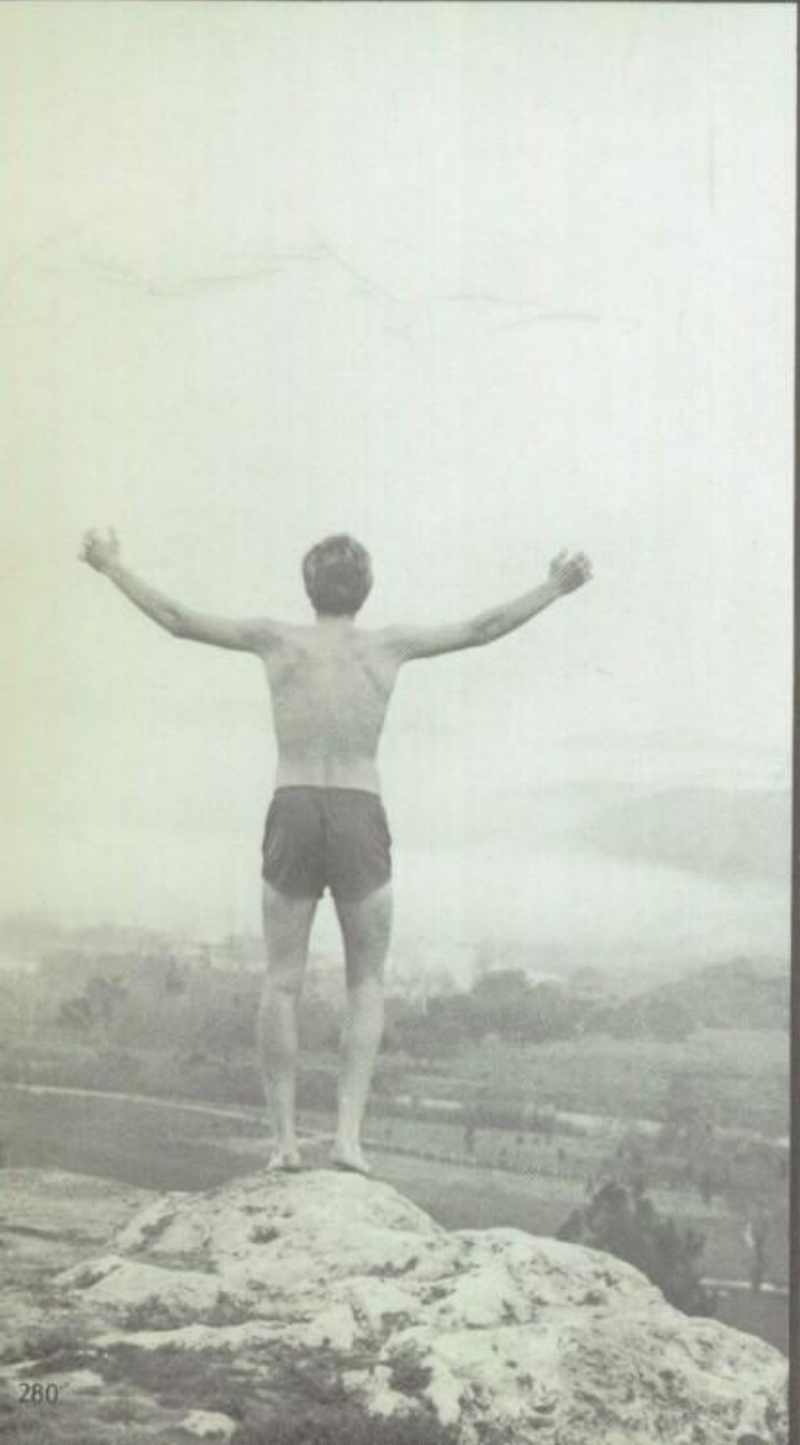

He also looked for true meaning in his running, a pastime he loves more than anything else (except maybe maguchi). His love for running was very instrumental in developing his hate for motorists. He usually flipped off idiots who sounded their horns or placed his Tiger Montreal prints on the hoods of cars when the drivers refused to yield him his legal right-of-way. Anytime he could, though, Dave would escape to a favorite spot of his such as Irvine Park or Fullerton Heights. (Until his death as a person, he aspired to becoming a hermit on Agony Hill).

Meanwhile, he spends his spare time joking about religion, looking at girls, going to Del Taco, singing in the shower, and chauffeuring his little brother around the area. To set the record straight, he is not anti-god nor is he pro-religion. As for looking at girls, the former editor of the Top Ten says that he only wishes they would look back at him. His night life ended when his Del Taco burned down, but he still maintains he's happy with the five platinum albums he's received during his singing career. A career that has seen him perform before thousands of cheering drops of water. He only wishes he could close his chauffeur service but him mom won't let him.

But why did I write all this seemingly irrelevant stuff about Dave, as if you, the reader, really cared about him. I wrote it because I wanted you to know just what kind of person it was who put together your yearbook. I wanted you to realize his hardships before you criticize his work. He tried his best to make this one of the best yearbooks Pacifica or any other school has ever had and I think he damn well succeeded. Like all the other editors before him, he entered the year with many new and refreshing ideas but his best idea by far was throwing out all those new concepts and sticking to one basic: make a book that everyone will enjoy. It's hard to do that because Dave had to grapple with his ego and a bloodthirsty Alyson Burns. I think if he had to do it over again, though, he'd change everything.

Of course, what's an editor's page without thank yous. I know that if Dave were here today he would want to thank his Mom and Dad; his dog, Cindy; the staff of The Reef for their hard work, or rather their hard try at not working (after all, they are responsible for most of the blame for this yearbook); the students and faculty of Pacifica for posing for all the pictures; and Mr. Michael Sullivan, the beacon of light that guided the ship to shore. He gave Dave and the rest of the staff all the freedom they wanted in making The 1978 Reef.

Meanwhile back at the ranch, Dave maintains he was once that thing known as a person. But now, hard as he tries, he is a victim, a spoil of a pirate society. He is a Pretender. For the time being, he can be found in a limited engagement, sweeping the streets of Disneyland, but he will continue searching for that something he will never find. Even now, his legacy lives on, though his heart won't. Someone rest his sole, he can't run forever. (How off the wall can you get?)
